Minutes of the meeting of January 5, 1935

The twenty-third annual banquet and the five-hundred twenty-second meeting of the Rochester Numismatic Association was held at the Hotel Rochester on the fifth of January, nine-teen hundred thirty-five.

The following members were present: J.B. Harzinski, Augustus J. Kaufman, John W. Horner, Charles W. Foster, Chester A. Peake, F.E. Peake, George A. Gillette, L.L. Babin, Donley Moore, Sloane, Plumb, Kolb, G.J. Lindboe, Sunday, G.J. Bauer, Amberg, Potter.

After a very successful banquet at which Mr. George Bauer acted as toastmaster, the new officers were installed, Mr. Bauer acting as temporary chairman. They are: President Earl H. Potter, Vice-president J.B. Harzinski, Secretary F. Emmett Peake, Treasurer Alphonse Kolb. Two applications for membership were accepted. They were those of George N. Poirier, 91 Beckwith Terrace, and James E. Powers, 253 Alexander Street.

Mr Lindboe gave a report for his committee which has charge of sending flowers and cheer to sick members.

The business of the day being ended, the association was regaled with speeches of interest by various members. After the organized entertainment there was amusement of a lighter vain for those who wished to stay later.

Respectfully submitted,

F. Emmett Peake

a closer examination has led me to believe that the flans were cut short before the coins were struck. Clipped or short-cut flans were quite common in the early days, but, due to the accuracy and precision of modern coinage, such pieces rarely get into circulation today.

Third, a cent of 1934 with what appears to be a piece broken off the edge of the obverse die at Lincoln's shoulder. The word "Pluribus" on the reverse is rather weakly struck. I would like, however, to have this piece verified, possibly by another similar specimen, before being certain that it was not caused by a defective flan.

The above are all of the Philadelphia mint.

HOWARD H. KURTH.

ROCHESTER NUMISMATIC ASSOCIATION ANNUAL MEDAL.

The annual Presidential medal of the Rochester Numismatic Association for 1934 has the portrait of Charles W. Foster, who served as president during the year. Mr. Foster is also Librarian and Curator of the American Numismatic Association. This is the twenty-third medal of the series. The reverse is from the die used throughout the series.

COIN CLUB FORMED IN BALTIMORE.

In response to invitations sent to the coin collectors of Baltimore and vicinity, sixteen men gathered at the Lord Baltimore Hotel on March 19 and organized the Baltimore Coin Club. The invitations were signed by George W. Williams, Charles E. McCormick and Frank G. Duffield. Letters were read from a number of collectors who were unable to be present, but who signified their willingness to become members. A temporary organization was formed with Mr. Williams as chairman and J. A. Walsh, 1335 Gorsuch avenue, Baltimore, as secretary. A committee was appointed to draft a constitution and by-laws, to report at the next meeting, April 4. Meetings of the club will be held the first and third Thursdays of the month at 612 North Calvert street. Among those present and who became members were Oscar H. Dodson, of the Naval Post-Graduate School, Annapolis, Md., and Lieut.-Com. Ralph W. Hungerford, also of Annapolis.

COINAGE FOR FEBRUARY, 1935.

Following is the number of pieces of the different denominations coined at the mints of the United States during February, 1935, as reported by the Bureau of the Mint, Washington, D. C.:

Silver—Dollars, 914,000; quarter dollars, 800,000; dimes, 400,000.
Nickel—Five cents, 2,885,000.

Report From Connecticut

Since my appointment, in the beginning of this year, I have been too preoccupied to have accomplished what might reasonably have been expected. Our own local society is now a cohesive organization of nearly thirty members, comprised of the most distinguished personnel in the community. At the last meeting Luman S. Drowne, of Northampton, Mass., treated the assembly to one of his edifying and illuminating lectures that have been constructed out of a varied experience of more than forty years.

Horace M. Grant, the capable and genial District Secretary for Rhode Island, visited the Hartford society in its formative period to give counsel, indicate the casual hazards and outline the course that contributes to the legitimate purposes of such an organization.

Meanwhile a coin club of about fifteen members has been organized in Waterbury. I admit I know too little about it at this writing, but Oscar G. Schelke, 192 Atwood Ave., is president, and L. E. Talbot, 19 Colley St., is the secretary. Judging from the geographical position of the more than thirty Connecticut members now affiliated with the parent society, it would seem possible and desirable shortly to organize localized clubs, and I shall be only too well pleased to devote my fraternal and official resources to this end.

By way of digression, I am impelled to say with regard to Mr. Philpott's philippic on the Texas commemorative half dollar:

It seems tinged with something beside judicial acumen. A banker's philosophy is founded on the basis of a pure equilibrium in which precedent and conventionality are inviolate and innovations taboo.

If we say that there are five thousand members in the A. N. A. and twenty-five thousand supernumeraries, we conclude that the numismatists of the country will never absorb a million-and-a-half of these coins. The instincts of the salesman must be enlisted ahead of any other consideration, because the Texas Centennial Commission must sell more than a million of these souvenirs to the general public, and they must do it by methods of cooperation and enthusiasm that will depart diametrically from the Stone Mountain fiasco.

If I should say that it seems a better measure of patriotic zeal to "Remember the Alamo" than to "Remember the Maine," it must be regarded as a purely personal interpretation. In my mind the Alamo, with Travis, Bowie and Crockett, have always stood out on the highest peak in the panorama of Texas history. I like to feel that a proprietary interest in the Alamo is a part of our birthright as the Texans might participate in the glory of Bunker Hill or the unique renown of the Charter Oak. I have a bronze medal struck in An VIII (1800) to commemorate Napoleon's victory at Marengo, on which the battle scene is micrographically engraved in a space 15x32 mm., but it would not seem feasible to outline any portion of the battle of San Jacinto on a relatively small coin that would crowd the open spaces Mr. Philpott admires. There is nothing in an open space to even inspire an honorable difference of opinion.

The imputation about the strutting eagle is certainly not well founded. To me it is a delightful and appropriate association of a lone star and a lone eagle ready to take off and spread its sheltering wings to protect the institutions and ideals of Texas from this kind of ridicule.

Of course we are not used to the association of wings with the Goddess of Liberty, or Déesse de Raison as created by M. Chaumette in 1792, unless we arbitrarily attribute her origin to the realms above.

Woodrow Wilson seemed to say that the drive for liberty always came from underneath, which seems to imply that if there is no staunch substratum of people demanding fundamental rights the cherished figure of Liberty may indeed "take wings."

Is it possible that Coppini has caught such an impression from the people of the Southern Empire and engraved this conviction into a metallic record that will go down to posterity in an effort to perpetuate a situation that will either be remembered or forgotten, depending precisely to what degree these tokens enter into our national life?

I cannot restrain the impulse also to observe that the criticism of her great left arm is about as logical as to say that if she were standing her

Minutes of the meeting on January 15, 1935

The 523rd meeting of the Rochester Numismatic Association was called to order at 8:30 P.M. by President Earl H. Potter.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. The secretary read the correspondence including that from the Brooklyn and Syracuse Associations, and was duly instructed as to acknowledgements.

A bill for $56.00 was presented by Mr. Alphonse Kolb for the cutting and striking of the presidential medals. The treasurer was instructed to pay the above bill.

The treasurer presented his report for 1934, which was very sound, showing the great care given by the treasurer who was given a vote of thanks by the association. It was also brought forward in connection with the treasurer's report that the surplus of medals of the past-presidents of the Association were gradually being disposed of.

/ It was decided that members more than a year in arrears in their dues should be suspended without further notice. It was also decided that a new membership list would be edited for publication on April first and that any member in arrears at that time would be suspended.

A report was given by the coin committee and the association voted to dispose of duplicates of the society's coins in lots of ten in the auctions on future meeting nights. There was some further discussion and as it was growing late the association decided to hold over the matter over discussion until the next meeting.

The meeting was adjourned at 10:00 P.M.

The meeting was reconvened at 10:30 P.M. and it was voted that Mr. George Gillette should draw up a resolution expressing the sympathy of the association for the family of the late Henry Chapman. The meeting was finally adjourned at 10:35 P.M.

Respectfully submitted,

J. Emmett Peake

ROCHESTER NUMISMATIC ASSOCIATION

FEBRUARY 5

The 524th meeting of the association will be held Tuesday, February 5th, at the Municipal Museum. The best method of rearranging the society's coins will be discussed. If you have any suggestions for the rearrangement, won't you help by making them?

It is quite a while since we have had the pleasure of hearing a paper read, but Mr. John Horner has prepared, for the benefit of the group, a monograph which he will present on the fifth. The subject has not as yet been announced, but, knowing Mr. Horner, we are sure that it will be an interesting one.

FEBRUARY 19

The association's second meeting of the month will be held on Tuesday, February 19th. We can't give you the business for that night, but among the entertainment features is a talk by Mr. Sunday. No subject is given for this speech either, but we assume it will be on Americana. Are we right, Mr. Sunday?

1935 DUES ARE PAYABLE NOW.

Minutes of the Meeting of February 5, 1935

The 524th meeting of the Rochester Numismatic Association was called to order at 8:30 P.M., Vice-president Harzinski presiding.

The following members were present: Plumb, Donley, Foster, Amberg, Sloane, Horner, Babin, Powers, Harzinski, Lindbee, Parker, Sunday, Kolb, Geo. Bauer, and Peake.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and accepted.

The secretary presented a bill which was accepted and duly paid.

Mr. Gillette sent in the resolution regarding the death of Henry Chapman and extending the society's sympathy to his family. A vote of thanks was given Mr. Gillette.

Coin rearrangement was discussed under old business. It was finally decided that the same committee augmented by one other member should continue the work of cataloging. The additional member was Emmett Peake.

Mr. Sunday mentioned the suggested interchange of membership between the Syracuse, Buffalo, and Rochester Association. After some discussion the group decided that it would not favor reciprocal membership.

Mr. John Horner gave a very interesting speech on English tokens, and after his speech answer some questions that had arisen in the minds of certain listeners. A vote of thanks was given Mr. Horner for the entertainment and information he had given the society.

Mr. Foster told a little about Southern Bank Notes and exhibited a rare specimen that he had procured in the Bluestone Sale.

The meeting was adjourned at 10:10

Respectfully submitted,

Secretary.

Copper and silver coins of Great Britain

The first mention of a Token, we learn, is quoted from a work of the year 1622. In this the writer states that leather money bearing the " name, stamp and picture " of Edward I (1272 - 1307) were in the ~~recollection~~ recollection of the writer, kept in one of the towers of Carnarvon Castle.

These Tokens, or leather money, were used by that King during the period of the building of Carnarvon and Conway Castles, fortresses erected by the monarch to overawe the rebellious Welch of the Marshes.

There is historical evidence that such contrivances were in vogue in the time of Queen Elizabeth, 1558 - 1603.

The use of private tokens for money which were stamped by inferior tradesmen had at this time grown to such an excess as to be the subject of frequent complaints. They were made of lead, tin, latten, and even of leather. Later Queen Elizabeth, for the ease of her subjects caused " Pledges and Tokens " to be made of " pure and fine copper " to pass current as half pence and farthings.

The lapse in the copper coinage from 1775 - 1797 was responsible for the revival of tokens in the latter end of the eighteenth century.

The issue of these tokens became so vast that they almost superseded the national currency, which statement is borne out by the fact that 600 tons of copper were used from 1787 to 1797 in the coinage of tokens in Birmingham.

The question of the copper coinage was often before Parliament during this period, and although the Government had repeatedly promised to put it in order, it was not until 1797 that Mathew Boulton received instructions to strike the two-penny and penny pieces, once so famous. The Boulton " cart wheel " penny was so heavy that an artisan who was paid his wages of twenty shillings in these coins would have to carry fifteen lbs in weight from the pay table.

Eight two-penny pieces, and sixteen pennies were to weigh a pound respectively, exactness being insisted on, so that the coins might be useful as weights.

Early in 1799 the Government announced that a further contract had been made with Mathew Boulton for half pence and farthings at the rate of thirty-six half pence and seventy two farthings to the pound.

Mathew Boulton was also the maker of the 1806 and 1807 pennies. There were no copper coins issued between the years of 1807 and 1821, with the exception of the Birmingham and Sheffield Tokens bearing the dates of 1811 - 1812 - 1813 and 1814 which were lawfully permitted circulation until the 25th day of Mar 1820.

In 1811 the bank of England issued silver tokens for three shillings, also one shilling and sixpence.

The report of the Bank of England, Feb 9th 1810 informs us that dollars issued by the Bank of England amounted to 1419484, dated 1804.

In 1804 there were struck for the Bank of Ireland six - shilling pieces. The obverse was similar to the English dollar but with the reverse Hibernia seated, supporting a harp, and the legend Bank of Ireland Token 1804 Six shillings.

In the two succeeding years the Bank of Ireland issued tokens for ten pence, and five pence, which were a great convenience. Those ~~were~~ dated 1805 were the most abundant.

Minutes for the meeting of February 19, 1935

The 525th meeting of the Rochester Numismatic Association was called to order at 8:30 P.M. at the Rochester Museum of Arts and Sciences, president Potter presiding.

The following members were present: Sloane, Horner, Harzinski, Amberg, Plumb, Donley, Powers, Potter, Gillette, Parker, S Sunday, Lindboe, Kolb, and Peake. Visitors: Mr. Walter Thomson.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. There was no correspondence.

The secretary asked for a list of all existing committees.

The desirability of creating the office of curator was discussed. The cataloguing committee complained of the difficulty of gaining access to the collection, and asked that another key be made and given the chairman. A decision was withheld until the next meeting as certain information was requested that would take time to procure.

Dr. Arthur Parker, the director of the Museum as well as a fellow member, proposed that the association become an associate member of the Museum Association and the Numismatic Section of the Museum. He explained that this in no way destroyed the autonomy of the group, but did give it certain privileges that would only be extended under the membership acceptance. The group voted to accept the above stated proposition.

Mr. Sunday gave the society an interesting address on the "First Official Coinage". A vote of thanks was given him for the entertainment furnished.

The meeting was adjourned at 9:45 and the usual auction followed.

Respectfully submitted,

Secretary

ROCHESTER NUMISMATIC ASSOCIATION

MARCH 5th.

The next meeting of the society will be held at the Rochester Museum of Arts and Sciences on Tuesday, March 5th. Mr. Sloane will speak on rare half-dimes.

MARCH 19th.

The second meeting of the month will also be held at the Museum, but on Tuesday, March 19th. Mr. Kolb will be the speaker, the subject to be announced.

At the last meeting of the association it was voted to become an associate member of the Museum Association and the Numismatic Section of the Museum. This in no way destroys the autonomy of our group, but rather gives us certain privileges which we could otherwise not enjoy.

During the meeting at which Mr. Horner spoke on English tokens, the question was raised as to why the copper coinage of England was suspended from 1807 to 1821. Do you know why?

Please remember that it costs money for the group to operate and that 1935 DUES ARE PAYABLE NOW.

Respectfully,

F. Emmett Peake, Secretary

Minutes of the meeting of March 5, 1935

The 526th meeting of the Rochester Numismatic Association was called to order at 8:30 P.M. at the Rochester Museum of Arts and Sciences by President Potter.

The following members were present: Babin, Horner, Plumb, Amberg, Foster, Parker, Potter, Lies, Harzinski, Donley, Powers, Lindboe, Bauer, Sloane, Kolb, and Peake.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

The question of keys for the safe and access to the cases was brought up and the secretary was instructed to write to the Museum and ask that until the cataloguing of the collection is completed only the officers and members of the cataloguing committee be given access to the safe and cases and that at least two of them must be present to secure the key.

The secretary was instructed to give the thanks of the association to the Museum for the new lighting arrangement.

The secretary was authorized to send flowers to members in cases of illness.

An announcement was made the April 1st was the deadline for back dues.

Mr. John Sloane gave a very detailed and carefully prepared paper on "Rare Half-Dimes".

The meeting was adjourned at 9:45 P.M.

Respectfully submitted,

A request was made that delinquent members pay their dues, as a new membership list is to be edited on April second.

Mr. Alphonse Kolb, the association's medalist, gave a very interesting speech on "The Process of Making a Presidential Medal". A vote of thanks was given to Mr. Kolb for his unusual and entertaining address.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

The correspondence was read and discussed, the secretary was instructed as to the associations wishes regarding the various communications.

It was decided that the association would draw up a resolution with the idea of having it published in the local papers, condemning the felonious ~~practices~~- practices that have become so prevalent in connection with advertising of high values on a few exceedingly rare coins so that the uninitiated public will buy catalogues. Mr. Gillette and Dr. Parker were appointed a committee to draw up such a resolution.

The secretary presented a bill for $3.79 which was ordered paid.

It was proposed that exhibits be placed in various banks with the end that the public should be stirred to a more active interest in numismatics. The proposal was postponed until the Library and Collection Committee should complete their cataloguing.

Mr. Lindboe gave a very interesting paper on the "Ratio of Monetary Metals". A vote of thanks was extended him for his scholarly entertainment.

The meeting was adjourned at 9:45 P.M.
